GREATEST WOMAN OF THE AGE IN
U. S. FOR GIFT

Marie Curie, even though the mother of two little girls and with home duties to take up her time, did not permit these obstacles to keep her from writing her name high in the world's hall of fame. She discovered radium, the most precious of metals. Now she is in the United States to receive from the hands of President Harding a gram of radium, valued at $100,000, the gift of American women who admire her great scientific work. There are only 141 grams of radium in the world today. Her two girls, now 23 and 16 years old, accompany her.

Narrow Republicanism.

When, a few days ago, Secretary of State Hughes announced that all of the Ministers from the United States in the Latin-American Republics would, with the exception of the Ministers in Chile and Colombia, be relieved to make places for Harding appointees, he neglected, or failed, or hesitated to mention that the Ministers to Chile and Colombia were Republicans whom Mr. Wilson, when he became President, had the indiscretion to leave in office.

Mr. Wilson left in office, and appointed to "political jobs," many Republicans who seemed conspicuously fitted for the work. This did not seem to provoke criticism of members of his party, but such breadth of view, it seems, could be nothing but a puzzle to Republicans.

The Wheat for Pennsylvania Soil

After seven years of careful experimenting, specialists at the Pennsylvania State College agricultural experiment station announce that a new variety of wheat called "Pennsylvania Forty-Four" has yielded in that time an average of almost five bushels per acre more than its nearest Pennsylvania competitor.

It is expected the farm agent will be able to explain to the farmers of this county the details regarding the handling of the new variety of wheat.

The new wheat variety, which was developed from a single head selected from a field of Fulcaster on the College farms in 1919, has been multiplied to such an extent that over 1000 acres are now planted to it throughout the state. At least twenty thousand bushels should be available for planting next September, and in the course of time the new variety will be introduced to every wheat growing section of the state. "Pennsylvania 44" on the college farms gave an average of 35 bushels yield per acre for seven years, the next best variety average being 31.8 bushels. For twelve farmers in the state last year it yielded 27 bushels as against 20.8 bushels for other varieties. It stands the test for milling being practically the same as Fulcaster, the standard milling wheat in Pennsylvania.

Farm Improvements

Levi N. Foulk of White Hall has recently made a number of improvements on his farm known as the Rudisill farm in Mt. Pleasant township. He has enlarged the yard making a fine lawn about the house has erected new fences, which have added to the appearance. A new well has been dug on the farm.

Big Day at Shippensburg Normal Thursday June 16, will be a Red Letter Day at the Shippensburg Normal School. At that time the 50th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone will be observed.

Lieut. Gov. E. E. Beidelman and Judge Frank B. Wickersham, '84 will deliver addresses. A Pageant will be given by the students of the school depicting the early life and history of the Cumberland Valley. The Alumni procession will precede the pageant. All should plan to attend. The historical, civic, patriotic and fraternal orders of the Valley are especially invited. Remember the date, Thursday, June 16.

SOME OF OUR NEW LAWS

LICENSE FOR BEVERAGES CONSIDERED NON-INTOXICATING

Pure Seed Bill—Fishermen must have Licenses—New Dog Law and others.

The New Dry Law

The Woner prohibition enforcement act which Governor Sprout has signed embodies parts of the Brooks high license law of 1887. Under the terms of the new law the courts will issue the licenses as in the past but the license fees in most instances are reduced to one-half of the old fees.

The license fees are reduced by the new law as follows: In cities of the first and second classes, $1,000 to $500 a year; cities of third class, $500 to $250; in other cities, $300 to $150; in boroughs, $150 to $75, and in townships, $75 to $40.

The law defines the phrase "vinous spirituous, malt or brewed liquors," and the word "liquors" to mean liquors fit for beverage purposes other than such as are from time to time determined to be intoxicating by act of Congress. The phrase "intoxicating liquors" means anything found to be intoxicating by act of Congress. No license may be granted to sell vinous, spirituous malt or brewed liquors in any place of resort for minors.

The Brooks law provision providing proof of necessity for a license is not contained in the law. The provision of the Brooks law relating to sureties on the bond of licenses is also eliminated, it having been held it is not necessary in a law regulating the sale of non-intoxicating drinks.

Petitions for licenses shall be heard by the court of quarter sessions and reconvenances may be made as heretofore, the court being empowered to refuse an applicant considered not fit. Refusal may also be based on the unfitness of the place of license. If the court is shown that the licensee has violated the law of the state relating to the sale of liquors the license shall be revoked.

In all cities, boroughs and townships one-fifth of the amount of the license goes to the county and the balance to the respective municipalities. The Brooks law provides that in cities the sum of $100 shall be paid to the counties and the balance to the treasurer of the cities, boroughs and townships.

Constables in making their quarterly returns to the courts are directed to report places where liquors found to be intoxicating by act of Congress are sold. All constables must visit at least once a month all licensed places.

The penalty clause of the new bill for selling non-intoxicating liquors without a license differs from the Brooks law, which provides for a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $5,000 and imprisonment of not less than three months or more than twelve months. The new penalties are a fine of not more than $2,000 or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both. The licensee who violates the law is subject to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than three months, or both. The Brooks law provided for penalties for licensees who violated the law of $100 to $500 for a first offense, $300 to $1,000 for a second offense and $500 to $5,000 for a third offense or imprisonment of three to twelve months, or both.

Sales may not be made on Sundays but there is no restriction on sales on election or primary days as in the past. The law makes it unlawful to possess intoxicating liquor in one's private dwelling except for personal consumption.

The new law is effective at once insofar as it would apply to new licenses, but all licenses now in force remain in force until the expiration of the time for which they were granted, unless revoked for violation of the law. In most counties the license courts are held in the first two months of the year.

Pure Seed Law for Farmers
Pennsylvania now has on its statute books what Secretary of Agriculture Fred Rasmussen has characterized as the finest pure seed law of any state in the Union. The law was drawn and presented to the Legislature by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and was passed by Governor William C. Sproul on April 26th. Under its provisions the farmers of Pennsylvania are absolutely protected in the purchase of seed, while unscrupulous seed houses that for years have been dumping refuse labeled pure seed in this state will be forced to find markets elsewhere.

All seed sold in this state after July 1st will have to be labeled, showing the exact contents, while no seed may be sold containing noxious weed seed. Briefly, the provisions of the new pure seed law, which is the first of its kind ever enacted in this state, follows: The law does not try to establish grades for seed, but aims to have the seed labeled so that all essential information about it will be clearly shown and the buyer can then use his judgment.

It requires information to be supplied on the following points: Common name per cent. of pure seed, per cent. of weed seed, the name and number ounce of noxious weeds, the percentage of germination, and the seller's name and address.

Varying requirements on these points are made for agricultural seeds and mixtures of these.

The intent of the labeling requirement is to see that the buyer always has an opportunity to know just what he is getting, and the label may be attached to the package, bag, box or other container in which it is sold or fixed on the container from which it is sold.

The Act comes into force July 1, 1921.

Seeds containing dodder and Canada Thistle down to even a very small per cent. are prohibited from sale, and the sale of any seed with more than 3 per cent. of weed seeds is also prohibited.

Provision is made for test of seeds for germination and weed seed content for the public at a small charge (25c per sample).

Exceptions to the labeling clauses relate to small amounts of seed, or seed that is to be reclaimed before being sold for seed purpose.

The secretary of Agriculture is empowered to take samples of seed any where to test these for germination and weed seed content and to publish the results of such tests.

A penalty is provided for violation of the act.

The act also provides for injunction against the sale of seeds that are a menace to the public on account of excessive weed seed content or of the presence of too large a percentage of noxious weed seeds.

License to Fish Law
After January 1, 1922, every citizen of the state 21 years or over who desires to indulge in the recreation of fishing will be compelled to take out a resident fisherman's license and pay the state $1.10 for the privilege.

The bill provides that any farmer or other person actually living on land through which a stream flows or abuts upon is exempted from the payment of the license fee when fishing in these waters. A penalty of $25 and costs for violation with one day in prison for each $1 of fine and costs in default thereof, is provided.

The license money up to $400,000 is to be paid over to the fish department for the propagation of fish and policing of the streams, and any balance over $400,000 is to go into the general fund of the state. County treasurers are to issue the licenses, which are good in any one year up to December 1, and are to receive for their trouble the additional 10 cents tacked on to the license fee.

New Dog License Law
Entire supervision of the enforcement of the licensing of dogs in the state of Pennsylvania will rest with the State Department of Agriculture, after January 15, 1922, under the provisions of a bill signed a few days ago by Governor Sproul.

At the present time the county commissioners of each county are charged with the enforcement of the dog license law, with mild supervisory powers vested in the Department of Agriculture. At the behest of the state organization of County Commissioners, the Pennsylvania State Sheepbreeders Association and their agricultural organizations, the new law was introduced and passed at the recent session of the legislature. The county commissioners of the state, along with the agricultural organizations, felt that the law could be more thoroughly enforced if placed directly and entirely in the hands of the Department of Agriculture.

Under the new law the Department of Agriculture will issue the license tags and blanks to the various county treasurers who will issue the same. A uniform license fee of $1 for male dogs and $2 for female dogs is fixed by the act, while an additional fee of ten cents is provided to compensate the county treasurer for his work. Assessors are also allowed five cents per name for the return of the names of dog owners in their districts, but the latter fee will be paid from the general dog fund.

The act of 1921 also provides that the state shall pay from the dog fund all losses for poultry and livestock killed or injured by dogs, although these amounts may be collected by the state where ownership of the dogs committing the depredations is established. The Department of Agriculture is entitled to a representative on the board that fixes the indemnities.

The actual enforcement of the dog law still remains in the hands of the constables and peace officers, but the Secretary of Agriculture is empowered to employ such help as is required, to see that the law is properly enforced in every section of the state. The funds derived from the license fees are paid into a state fund and from this fund the cost of enforcing the law, supplies, such as tags, blanks, etc., are paid, while indemnities are also paid from this fund.

A dog owner, under the act of 1921, is responsible for the dog, as under the act of 1917 and full powers are conferred upon the proper authorities to see that the owner, and not the life of the dog, pays for the owner's negligence.

New Law for Publishers and Advertisers.

New regulations applying to false and misleading advertisements in newspapers are made effective in Pennsylvania by the provisions of a law passed by this year's Legislature. The measure declares that anyone who publishes any advertisement which contains any representation which is untrue, is guilty of a misdemeanor. The law does not apply to any publisher, who in good faith and without knowledge of the falsity thereof causes the publication of the advertisement.

Section 2 of the act says it shall be deemed deceptive advertising for any firm engaged in business of buying or selling new or second-hand furs, wearing apparel, jewelry, furniture, pianos, phonographs, musical instruments, motor vehicles, stocks, or generally any form of property, or in the business of furnishing any kind of investment to advertise by means of "liner ads" indicating that the sale is being made by a private party not engaged in such business. The section directs that every such firm, in advertising goods through "liner ads" or other unmistakably indicate that the seller is a business concern and not a private party.

No employee of a newspaper is permitted to accept any advertisement for its classified columns without obtaining the name and address of the advertiser and making a record of them which, the law directs, shall be retained for a period of two weeks and shall be subject to the examination of any law officer of this Commonwealth.

Decoration Day and no Decoration

The Victory Medal Office of Harrisburg, Penn., under the direction of Colonel John S. E. Young, U. S. A., Retired, is making this most urgent appeal to the ex-service men of this district who as yet have not applied for their Victory Medal. This appeal is to remind them that Memorial Day is approaching very rapidly and unless they speed up on the filing of their applications they will be without the Medal which every ex-service man should have pinned to his breast, when he takes part in the different Memorial Ceremonies, to pay his respects to those of his comrades who made the supreme sacrifice during the World War.

This district has always responded vigorously to any campaign that was started and we are now asking your co-operation, to help put the Victory Medal Campaign "OVER THE TOP". HOW CAN EVERYBODY HELP? EASILY. Urge those of the ex-service men who as yet have not applied for their Victory Medal to get their application in at once or else drop a card to the Victory Medal Office, P. O. Box 270, Harrisburg, Penn., with their name and address and we will do the rest. This also applies to the next of kin of those who were killed in action, died from other causes or who died after separation from service, as they are also entitled to the Victory Medal in favor of the deceased.

Ex-Field Clerks and Nurses are urged to write direct to The Adjutant General of the Army, Washington, D. C., and The Surgeon General of the Army, Washington, D. C., respectively.

While these Medals may seem of little value now it should be borne in mind that in years to come, they will be of inestimable value to the relatives and descendants of those who participated in the World War.

We are repeating again, that in the event you do not care to part with your original discharge, you may have the true extract of your discharge certificate attested to, by an Commander of an American Legion Post and in order for you to have the Medal on Memorial Day, it will be necessary for you to get out of the "REST" period and be governed by the following command: "ATTENTION—SHUN".

If you are unable to apply direct, drop a card to the Victory Medal Office P. O. Box, 173, Harrisburg, Pa., and the necessary blanks and instructions will be sent to you by return mail or else apply to the nearest American Legion or Veteran of Foreign Wars Post, American Red Cross or Y. M. C. A. where the necessary blanks may also be obtained.

Upon receipt of your application by this office, same will be complete and your discharge or true extract returned to you immediately. Your completed application will be then forwarded to the Depot Quartermaster, Philadelphia, Penn., who will mail the Medal direct to you, and which generally takes from one week to ten days.

What W. C. T. U. Says of New Dry Law.

Mrs. Ella M. George, State President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, gives out the following statement in regard to the new Prohibition Enforcement Law:

The W. C. T. U. is unalterably opposed to the granting of a license to any person to sell intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes and we shall not give up the fight until Pennsylvania joins the other thirty-nine Bone Dry states.

We throw all our weight in favor of the Martin Bill and we are not discouraged with the results since it House. With the ballot in the hands of the women at the next primary election, it will be an easy matter to elect a legislature that will give an overwhelming majority in favor of wiping the liquor traffic from the face of Pennsylvania.

The Woner Prohibition Enforcement Law will give us a State Prohibition Code. Every prohibition Agent from John F. Kramer down, has declared that the failure to enforce the 18th amendment largely grew out of the fact that we have had no concurrent legislation in Pennsylvania and it was necessary to prosecute violations in the Federal Courts where, it is said, sentiment is strongly against prohibition. Besides, the Federal Courts are so crowded, that cases are unreasonably delayed, and offenders escape punishment. Under this law, the cases may be transferred to the Court of Quarter Sessions, and local and county officials will be held responsible for the punishment of violations.

This law prohibits the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in harmony with the Federal Law, and provides for a heavy fine on those who violate the law. It also contains a Search and Seizure clause under the caption of "Inspection" which will help to bring the offenders to justice. The conditions in Pennsylvania have been overwhelmed with grief and indignation because the prohibition law, for which we worked so hard, seemed to be a "dead letter."

Had the 1921 legislature adjourned without passing a State Enforcement Code, these conditions would have remained for two years. This law puts a whip into the hands of the good people of the state by which all illegal sales of intoxicating liquor can be suppressed. Up to this time we have had the "speakeasies," "blind tigers," "bootleggers" and the open saloon. This will eliminate the first three and bring the saloon-keeper to justice.

It is now up to the patriotic citizens of every locality to not only obey the law themselves but to see that it is enforced by the proper authorities. The W. C. T. U. throughout the state, will co-operate not only with the local officials but with other organizations in their efforts to banish the liquor traffic from our beloved state.

PREVENT FOREST FIRES—IT PAYS.

Gettysburg Man Heads 127th Pa. Vol.

Capt. C. G. Miller, of Gettysburg, was unanimously elected president of the 127th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry Association, which held its thirty-third annual meeting at the Penn-Harris in Harrisburg on May 23.

Only thirty veterans gathered around the table at noon, and silently prayed for those of the old regiment who had gone before. Colonel William West Jennings, commander of the regiment, recruited his troops from Harrisburg and the Lebanon Valley, for the most part, and representatives from many central Pennsylvania towns were present.

William Jennings, son of the late commanding officer, was re-elected first vice-president. J. M. Johnson, Reading, second vice-president; Charles Fisher, Harrisburg, third vice-president; N. A. Walmer, secretary; B. E. Brandt, treasurer, and president, C. W. Lantz, Lebanon, chaplain.

It was announced that both the oldest and the youngest members of the regiment were present: J. F. Spidle, 84, of Hummelstown, holding the former honor while Vice-president Johnson, 74, was the youngest. Harrisburg was chosen as the next meeting place, and the time was set again for May 3.

Miss Dorothy Crouse and Miss Sarah Scott spent the week end with friends in Littlestown.

Beniah J. Spangler has sold his building lot on Baltimore street, adjoining his former residence, to Ellis Bucher.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Frey and son of San Francisco, California, are visiting Mr. Frey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Frey, N. Stratton street.

Injured by Explosion

On last Friday afternoon while George Florence of Gettysburg and Quinn Topper of near Emmitsburg were blasting out stumps on the Annan farm near Zora, a blast of dynamite went off prematurely and both men were seriously injured. They had set a blast which had not gone off and as they removed it and set another the fuse ignited the charge before they could get away. Mr. Topper had his left arm broken in two places and Mr. Florence was badly cut about the face and head, one eye being seriously injured.

MEXICAN OPALS IN DEMAND

Even With Primitive Methods. Our Southern Neighbors Dig Beautiful Stones From Their Mines.

The Queretaro district is the chief source of supply of Mexican opals. All the mines are owned by Mexicans. No foreign capital is invested. Old-fashioned methods of mining are employed and activity is desultory. If prices are good, work becomes feverish. If prices drop off, few opals are mined.

Most of the best quality stones go to Mexico City. Dealers there market them in other countries. The poorer grades are sold in little shops throughout Mexico or are peddled to tourists at railway stations. Thousands of these cheap opals are sold in towns along the border in the United States. They can be bought for from 30 cents up.

It is this cheap grade of stones that has given Mexican opals a poor reputation among jewelry buyers. The fact is, a fine Mexican opal is a beautiful gem. It differs from Australian opals in that the latter are usually opaque to transmit light whereas Mexican opals are usually clear. To bring out the soft play of colors in a Mexican stone, artificial backs are often used in setting the gems. Many are backed with their own genuine matrix. The better class of Mexican opals is not so expensive as the Australian or those imported from the famous mines of Australia, but they are far freer cheap.

Rangers Marry Teachers.

It is a curious fact that approximately 75 per cent of the forest rangers are married to school teachers. You will wonder where all the school teachers come from in this sparsely settled region, writes Alice Spencer Cook in the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. This is partly explained by the fact that every district has at least one teacher, regardless of the number of pupils. Since 25 per cent of all receipts from the national forests go to the counties in which they lie, to be used for schools and roads, they can well afford to employ a teacher at an attractive salary.

Rock Cannon.

When the island of Malta was under the rule of the Knights of Malta they defended their sovereignty with cannon bored in the rock. Each one of these strange weapons contained an entire barrel of powder, and as it was not possible to vary the aim of the cannon fifty of them were made ready, facing various directions from which the enemy might approach.

When the fame of these arms of defense became known to the world the idea was conceived of transporting rock to the summits to serve the same purpose but the scheme was impracticable.

Russia.

The Russian empire, prior to the world war, comprised 8,764,596 square miles. Cyclopedists divide this territory, one-sixth of the world, into four parts. Russia in Europe (including Poland and Finland), the Caucasus, Siberia, Russian Central Asia. Russia in Europe has an area of 1,911,632 square miles.

SPRING'S HERE WITH HAIR PLANTING DAYS

Ye men with shiny domes—cease to grieve. All may be little Lord Fountleroy—if they so desire—now that Dr. S. J. Paragon, of New York, has invented a "hair planting" machine. He says it is practical, the injection of hairs into the epidermis on bald heads, with a small electric needle where they "catch on" and grow. Springtime—when has returned, you see.
